Your Construction Contract

The construction contract should be taken very seriously as it outlines rights and obligations. You are strongly encouraged to seek legal advice. Your contract should address all your expectations as to the physical attributes of the home, as well as when and how payments are made, scheduling and how change orders are done. Homeowners should attach the plans and specifications.

The Pre-Delivery Inspection (PDI)

Before you take possession of your new home, your builder is required to conduct a pre-delivery inspection (PDI) with you or someone you designate to act on your behalf. If you wish, you may be accompanied by someone who can provide expert assistance. The PDI is important because it is an opportunity to learn about how to operate and maintain parts of your home, such as the ventilation, plumbing, and heating systems. It is also important because it gives you an opportunity to note items in your home that are damaged, missing, incomplete, or not working properly before you take possession of your home. This record is also very important as it may help show what items may have been damaged before you moved in and helps resolve any disputes relating to whether or not an item of damage was caused by the use of the home.

The PDI is only one piece of evidence relating to damaged or incomplete items, and you should note and document (e.g. via photos or video) any concerns or damaged items as soon as you notice them after taking possession if they were missed during the PDI. If they are not addressed by your builder, you can include them in your first warranty form submission to Tarion. Damaged items are covered under the warranty if the damage was caused by the builder or their trades.

Financial Loss Protection

When you enter into a contract with a builder for the construction of a freehold home on property that you own, the money that you pay to the builder under the construction contract will be protected up to $40,000. If the builder fails to substantially perform the contract, you may be entitled to compensation for the difference between the amount you paid the builder and the value of the work and materials supplied by the builder up to a maximum of $40,000. If the builder abandons the site, contact Tarion immediately as Tarion will need to assess the value of the work provided at that date.

Warranty Coverage

The warranty on work and materials commences when your home is substantially complete and ready for possession and provides up to a maximum of $400,000 in coverage. There are limitations on scope and duration as follows. Your builder warrants that your home will, on delivery, have these warranties:

One-Year Warranty

- Your home is constructed in a workmanlike manner, free from defects in material, is fit for habitation and complies with Ontario's Building Code
- Protects against unauthorized substitution of items specified in the construction contract or selected by you

Two-Year Warranty

- Protects against water penetration through the basement or foundation walls, windows, and the building envelope
- Covers defects in work or materials in the electrical, plumbing, and heating delivery and distribution systems
- Covers defects in work and materials that result in the detachment, displacement, or deterioration of exterior cladding (such as brick work, aluminum, or vinyl siding)
- Protects against violations of Ontario's Building Code that affect health and safety

Seven-Year Warranty

- Protects against defects in work or materials that affect a structural load-bearing element of the home resulting in structural failure or that materially and adversely compromise the structural integrity; and/or that materially and adversely affect the use of a significant portion of the home.

Construction Performance Guidelines

The Construction Performance Guidelines are a resource to provide advance guidance as to how Tarion may decide disputes between homeowners and builders regarding defects in work or materials. The Construction Performance Guidelines are intended to complement Ontario's Building Code. They are supplemented by any applicable guidelines or standards produced by industry associations. They do not replace manufacturer warranties. The Construction Performance Guidelines are available in several different formats accessible via <https://tarion.com/builders/construction-performance-guidelines>

Warranty Exclusions

Your warranty, provided to you by your builder and backed by Tarion, is a limited warranty, and the protection provided by Tarion is also limited. Exclusions to coverage include: normal wear and tear, damage caused by improper maintenance, damage caused by a third party, secondary damage caused by defects that are under warranty, supplementary warranties, deficiencies caused by homeowner actions, elevators, HVAC appliances, specific defects accepted in writing and damage resulting from an Act of God.
